Sometimes it might feel unnecessary to stick to the exact or literal truth of what happened, as long as the message or the meaning of the experience is portrayed. Because memory is fallible and has gaps, we might fill in details by embellishing.

Eccentric Family Members

Write about a colorful family member.